DO YOU LOVE YOUR CHILD?

Gracie Gilman.

Gracie Gilman lives in Dexter, Me., and she is the light of her little home. A short time ago she began to fail. The glow of health left her cheeks—she became colorless. She grew nervous. Could not sleep well, would scream and cry out in her sleep for hours at a time. No appetite. The Death Angel drew near, but the RESTORER was at hand—DANA'S SARSAPARILLA gave her a good appetite; brought the roses back to her cheeks and gave her refreshing sleep and the father was very grateful for it. Do you wonder at it?

Hearts are breaking with agony every day as the little arms clasp papa's and mama's for the last time.

☞Oh! Parents, banish disease, baffle death, by using the Great Remedy ,while you may.

DON'T LET YOUR CHILD DIE!

SEVEN KILLED

When the Boiler of a Windy City Tug Took Flight.

CHICAGO, October 4.—Steamer H. S. Pickands, coal laden, from Buffalo, ran aground today in the draw of the Archer avenue bridge on the south branch of the river here. Four tugs were attempting this afternoon to tow the Pickands out of the draw when the boiler of one of them, the C. W. Parker, exploded, killing four employes of the tug and three persons standing on the banks of the river. Many others were seriously injured. The killed are James B. Carter, captain of the C. W. Parker; John C. Moore, engineer of the Parker; Samuel Armstrong, cook of the Parker; an unknown man, killed by a fragment of the boiler while standing at one end of the bridge, and Samuel Sawyers. The wounded include Joseph Cullen, fireman of the Parker, who will probably die before morning, and Joseph Bomerask, who may die.

MILES OF FLAME.

A Great Tract of Country in California Devastated.

The Fire Leaves the Woods and Devours Whole Villages.

Inhabitants Out in Force Fighting the Common Enemy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Forest fires have been raging for over a week in Eldorado County. More than forty square miles of country have been burned over. The flames have spread over the Greenwood Creek country and all the country to the west of the Green Valley, destroying many dwellings, barns, hay, fences, and thousands of acres of dry feed. When the fire approached the town of Pilot Hill, all hands turned out to try and check the progress. Back firing was attempted but had little effect, owing to the swiftness of the fire. Half a dozen houses on the outskirts of the town were burned in quick order. Flying sparks caught on the frame buildings around the post office, and in a few minutes the store, the post office, a saloon, several halls and houses, Warner's, Davis's and Kirschner's residences, including the outbuildings were all burned. Among the heaviest losers was D. Ferguson, who lost everything except his horses. He lived with his aged mother two miles from town. While away from town, with many others fighting the fire, he was told that his own property was in danger. He started for his house only to find it and a new barn in flames. His mother was lying some distance from the house, exhausted from fright and exertion. At Burner Hill, nothing is left of the village but the hotel, school house, and two or three scattering buildings on the outskirts of the town. All the grass in the hills in that section has been destroyed and consequently the loss of stock will be large. Many farmers and ranchers have been rendered homeless and penniless by the fire.

Loss $2,500, Insurance $1,850.

DAMARISCOTTA, Me., Oct. 4.—The two story double house and two barns attached to the Newcastle side of the river, owned and occupied by William Sampson and Mrs. Partridge were burned last night with about half of Sampson's and nearly all. of Mrs. Partridge's household goods. Seth Stewart, a tenant, also lost a large portion of his household goods, and about five hundred dollars' worth of furniture, etc., belonging to L. K. Bonney, and stored in the house was burned. The total loss is about $2,500; insurance, $1,850.

A Big Elevator Burned.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 4.—The elevator of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company system at Locust Point, burned this morning with all the machinery and 135,000 bushels of wheat. The loss is covered by insurance. The elevator cost to construct and to put in the machinery, $500,000. It was erected in 1871 and is said to have been the first elevator located on the Atlantic coast. Its capacity was 250,000 bushels. The elevator, it is understood, will not be rebuilt.

Threshers Caused This Fire.

DEXTER, Me., Oct. 3.—This afternoon while the threshers were at work in the barn of E. Warren Eaton, two miles from Dexter village, a lantern exploded, setting the building on fire. The barn was burned with a threshing machine, one horse, crops and other contents. Charles Sanford of Dexter, in trying to rescue the horse, was badly burned and the physicians think that he will die. The loss on buildings and contents is about $1,200.

Firemen Injured.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 4.—The canning works of the Van Camp Packing Company burned this morning. The establishment was packed with canned goods, canvas, etc. The total loss is $200,000, on which there is $145,450 insurance. Four firemen were caught by a falling wall this afternoon and badly bruised. A pipeman overcome by the heat will probably die.

A Blaze at Page's Mills.

MECHANIC FALLS, Me., Oct. 3.—The farm buildings of Arthur Cobb, situated at Page's Mills, were burned Friday night. The fire was discovered in the ell, having caught from the chimney. Part of the goods were saved.

In Maine Woods.

BIDDEFORD, October 3.—A fire started this afternoon in the woods of Tappan's Cut, a mile this side of Old Orchard. It is burning fiercely, destroying much heavy pine growth. Boston & Maine section men are fighting it.

ACCUSED OF BARRATRY.

The Burning of the Ship Fannie Tucker Under Investigation.

NEW YORK, October 3.—The American ship Fannie Tucker left this port on June 5, bound for Seattle and Tacoma by way of the Horn. She was a three-masted, full-rigged ship of 1500 tons, built in Maine in 1875, and valued at $30,000. Her miscellaneous cargo of 16,000 tons, consisting of nails, iron, hardware and waste stuffs was valued at $120,000. She was owned in part by her commander, Capt. John Frost, A. F. Staford of this city, and others. Capt. John Frost is an experienced sailor, 60 years old, and belongs in Maine. He bears a good reputation among shipping men.

The ship reached 18° south latitude, off Brazil, when she began leaking badly. There had been leaking during the entire voyage. It was decided to make a port and try to find the leak. Bahia being the nearest point, it was decided to put in there. In three days the ship was anchored off the coast. For ten days she lay there, the crew shifting the cargo and searching for the leak. At 8 a. m., Aug. 30, one of the men, Thomas Suttle, who is a Nova Scotian and who sailed first trip with the vessel, entered the hold with a lighted candle. A sailor followed Suttle down through the chain locker to the place were the waste and hemp was stored. He lost sight of him for a moment. When Suttle emerged from the hold the sailor saw flames spreading rapidly. The alarm was given and the crew tried to put the fire out. They found that the fire was gaining and getting out beyond control. The ship around the point into the harbor. At 5 o'clock in the evening they realized that she would be destroyed. They abandoned her and she was a total loss.

Word was given from Bahia that there was nothing suspicious about the fire. As soon as the second officer and five of the sailors arrived on the steamer Advance last week, the national board of underwriters instituted an investigation.

Suttle was taken before the board. He made a confession.

As a result, R. N. Hanna, chief inspector of the board, filed a complaint with the United States commissioner, and a warrant was issued for Suttle's arrest.

The deposition of Mr. Hanna said that he was informed and believed that Thomas Suttle, on the high seas or within the United States, did conspire and combine and confederate with the captain of the American ship Fannie Tucker to destroy the vessel with intent to injure any persons that may have underwritten any policy of insurance thereon or the goods on board.

The source of his information was statements made by Thomas Suttle. So far as could be learned, the ship was not fully insured. The amounts of the insurance could not be learned. She was insured in the Boston Marine, the Delaware and Mutual, the Insurance of North America, the Providence and Atlantic. Suttle was taken before Commissioner Shields today and committed to Ludlow street jail in default of $5000 bail. The examination will be held next Saturday at 10 a. m. Capt. Frost is now on his way here and will arrive in about 15 days.

Probably a Total Wreck.

MARSHFIELD, Oregon, October 4.—The steamer Arago, from Coos Bay to San Francisco, coal laden, was wrecked at North Spit, yesterday. The passengers and crew were saved but the vessel will probably be a total wreck.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Brazilian government has ordered the purchase of 500,000 cuttings of grape vines in the United States and Europe, for use in starting experimental vineyards in that republic.

Horace Hamlin, his two young daughters and his two year old boy started for a walk at Corpus Christi, Tex., Saturday. Later the bodies of Hamlin and the little girls were found in the bay. The boy is missing. It is not known whether the drowning was accidental or not.

Mrs. Frank Leslie was married yesterday by Rev. C. F. Deems of New York to William C. Kingsbury Wilde, M. A., of London, eldest son of the late Sir William Wilde of Dublin.

The President has appointed Lieut. Col. Charles T. Alexander chief medical purveyor of the army, to succeed Col. Vellum, lately retired.

Luther R. Marsh, who has been mingling with the camp meeting spiritualists in company with Mrs. Huyler, Mrs. Ann O'Delia Dis Debar's successor, as his private medium, has announced that he renounces his profession as a lawyer and will devote the remainder of his life to championing spiritualism on the lecture platform.

Cornelius Driscoll of Bow street, Charlestown, Mass., fatally stabbed his wife with a carving knife Saturday, while in a fit of passion.

"FAREWELL, MY FRIEND."

The Only Ceremony at the Grave of General Boulanger.

BRUSSELS, October 3.—An immense crowd assembled today hours before the time fixed for the interment of General Boulanger, about the late residence of the dead soldier. As the hour for starting the procession drew near it was seen that the number of policemen present was far from sufficient. Reenforcements were sent for, but, as the coffin was brought out, they proved entirely equal to keep the crushing, excited throngs in anything like decent order, and the gendarmes, both mounted and on foot, were sent for and were compelled to make a number of arrests before order could be restored.

The coffin of the unfortunate general was covered with hundreds of floral wreaths, tied with tri-color ribbons, mostly sent from France by his political admirers, and there were a number of tri-color flags festooned about the casket.

The only ceremony was performed by M. Dereledé, who, taking up a tri-color, put the flag to his lips and then placed it on the coffin at the same time exclaiming: "Farewell, my friend." This was the only incident worthy of note in connection with the interment.

One Chinese Mob Explained.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 4.—Advices from China says that a very large fire occurred at Chung King, August 8. When the fire engines were brought out, only two of thirteen were found in condition for use. It was soon discovered that the Tao Tai of the city had dismissed the fire crews and embezzled the money provided for their maintenance. A mob of 10,000 attacked his dwelling two days later and it was only with the greatest difficulty that he escaped being torn to pieces. This outbreak gave rise at Shanghai to rumors of another anti-foreign riot.

Jealous of Ireland.

LONDON, October 4.—At a meeting of 7000 workingmen in Hyde Park today the Liberal Federation was denounced for the suppression of free speech, neglecting workingmen and giving precedence to Ireland. The resolutions adopted declare the Liberal party unworthy of confidence and that a labor league should be formed to secure labor representatives in Parliament.

MAINE.

Captured in Foxcroft.

BANGOR, October 4.—Detective Harriman arrested George W. Tibbets at Foxcroft, Friday night, for a burglary in Auburn, Me. Tibbets was taken to Auburn Saturday by Chief of Police Maxwell.

Will Go to Auburn.

[Special to the PRESS.]

ROCKLAND, October 3.—E. T. Garland of Lincoln, the brother of General Secretary George W. Garland of the Rockland Young Men's Christian Association, has accepted a call to the general secretaryship of the Auburn Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Garland is a son of A. B. Garland of Portland, and a highly popular gentleman.

Teachers at Farmington.

FARMINGTON, October 3.—The Franklin County Educational Association sessions closed today. These officers were elected at the business session: President, John J. Hunt of East Wilton; vice president, Miss Harriet H. Young of Farmington; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. John C. Ames of Farmington; executive committee, J. Hunt, Mrs. M. D. Lander, W. G. Mollett of Farmington, Miss Julia H. May, of Strong, and Miss Lena Hawkes of Phillips. Resolutions were adopted in favor of abolishing the district system, amending the school law so that pupils between eight and fifteen years shall be compelled to attend public school s the whole school year, and in favor of temperance instruction.

Work of the Grangers.

AUGUSTA, October 3.—The grangers of the State are about entering upon a season of unusual activity. General interest is manifest among the Patrons now that harvesting is about ended and the evenings are increasing in length and the weekly meetings of the subordinate granges are well attended. State Lecturer Twitchell has frequent calls from every section for his services. On the 13th inst. he will attend an all-day meeting of Patrons at Foxcroft, speaking on the "Political Duties of the Hour." Later on he will go into York county and some parts of Androscoggin in the interest of the order. ExGovernor Roble is among those mentioned as candidates for Master of the StateGrange

The Dry Spell.

OLDTOWN, October 3.—The dry time alj over eastern Maine and New Brunswick is unprecedented. The St. John river was never so low and the great water power at Veazie, where the public works company of Bangor has expended half a million on an electric plant has partly failed. There was not power enough Friday night to run both cars and lights.

BIDDEFORD, October 3.—The Saco river is the lowest since 1882. One department of the Laconia mill was obliged to temporarily suspend work today on account of low water. Several saw mills up river are silent, waiting for a rise. River men predict still lower water as the ground is so dry the first fall rains will make but little showing.

AUGUSTA, October 4.—This section is suffering from the long drought. Superintendent Cole of the Edwards Manufacturing Company, says he has never seen the Kennebec so low in thirty-eight years.

Their Silver Wedding.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, October 4.—A very enjoyable event occurred here today. It was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Manley. The anniversary being on Sunday, no formal announcement of it was made but a large number of prominent citizens called during the afternoon and tendered their congratulations. Among the callers were Secretary and Mrs. Blaine, Miss Blaine, James G. Blaine, Jr., Hon. James W. Bradbury, Ex-Governor Joseph B. Williams, Rev. J. S. Williamson, Mr. Horace Williams, Hon. Orville D. Baker, Hon. Samuel Titcomb, Col. Thomas Lombard and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Johnson, Col. Elias Milliken and wife, Dr. Geo. W. Martin and wife, Hon. D. A. Cony and many of the younger people in the vicinity.

The Barden House Case.

FARMINGTON, October 3.—The case of the State vs. Samuel Farmer of the Barden House, Phillips, indited for keeping a liquor nuisance, was given to the jury this evening and they have sealed the verdict as the court adjourned before the jury agreed. A large number of Phillips' leading citizens testified for Farmer. They never saw drunken people in or about the hotel and had seen Farmer refuse parties liquor. The State's testimony was to the effect that large quantities of liquor and the paraphernalia of a bar room were seized and some eighty gallons of liquor had been received at the hotel since January last. The impression is that the verdict is guilty.

Foul Play Suspected.

AUGUSTA, October 4.—John Fitzgerald, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Togus, who was found near his home insensible, with blood flowing from his ears, and suffering from an assault, has since died and was buried Saturday. Foul play is suspected and several persons are being watched.

The Christian Alliance.

NEW YORK, October 4.—The eighth annual convention of the Christian Alliance is now in session here. Ministers and missionaries are present from all parts of the country. One delegate, Mrs. Fuller, came from India. The subjects to be discussed are: "Christ, our Savior, Sanctifier, Healer and Coming Lord;" "The Work of Missions at Home," "The Evangelization of the World Abroad."

Baby Cleveland.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 3.—A special to the Evening Standard announces the birth of a daughter last night to Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland, at their residence 816 Madison avenue. New York. The despatch also states that mother and daughter are doing well.

Great Defalcation in the Ulster County (N. Y.) Savings Bank.

Poor People Whose Savings Are Gone Say Some Bitter Things.

KINGSTON, N. Y., October 3.—The Ulster County Savings Institution has closed its doors and is in charge of Bank Superintendent Charles M. Preston. Expert examiners have been at work since Tuesday and have found already that the enormous sum of $450,000 has been stolen by Treasurer Ostrander and Matthew T. Trumpbour, assistant treasurer, and it is feared that the stealings will reach a larger amount. At midnight Superintendent Preston swore to a complaint charging Trumpbour with perjury in swearing to false statements contained in the July report of the bank to the banking department, and the latter was arrested at his house and locked up just as he had his clothes all packed and was preparing to flee from town. Ostrander was arrested about two weeks ago for embezzling $75,000, and was under bonds of $20,000, but his bondsmen last night turned him over to Sheriff Dill and he was also locked up in jail.

The trustees have made public the following:

"To the Depositors of the Ulster County Savings Institution:

"When it was ascertained that James E. Ostrander had misappropriated some money of the institution it was at once determined that it was our duty to promptly take the necessary steps to secure such punishment as the law provides. As it was fully realized that one effect of such action would be the inauguration of a run on the bank, was this institution solvent was the all important question at that moment. If solvent, it was our commanding duty in the interests of all the people of this county to make every effort to save the bank, if not, to at once close the doors so that every depositor might receive his proportionate share of the assets. We knew what the securities were and now are, for they have remained untouched from the day of our former statement until this time. We were then only concerned in ascertaining the exact amount owing to the depositors. As one step in that direction we summoned Assistant Treasurer Matthew T. Trumpbour, the man who had produced vouchers which he asserted represented the whole of Ostrander's defalcation, aggregating $75,000, and, after impressing upon him in as forcible language as we could command the importance to the whole people that his answers should be truthful, we asked him first, whether those vouchers represented, if there was of loss and second, whether the general ledger and July report to the State banking department, to the correctness of which he had made oath, contained accurately the amount due the depositors. Both questions, he answered most emphatically in the affirmative, repeating it again and again. Mr. Van Hostrand the bookkeeper, also assured us that the depositor's ledger was correct and, so far as we knew, his statement was true. We then determined it was our duty to prepare the bank for a run and in the two following days there was paid out over the counter $218,000 representing 550 pass books. A comparison of this large numuer of pass books from every part of the country, failed to show any discrepancy between the pass books and the ledger of the bank. This strong corroboration of statements of Trumpbour and all the evidence then in our possession satisfied us that the general ledger accurately showed the amount due depositors and we determined to so inform the public. Trumpbour subsequently volunteered to make a confession of his own part of the transaction and the confession, when made, was a confirmation of the loss. Our statement, therefore, of September 19, was made upon evidence then uncontroverted, on which we thought we ought to act forth interests of the public and community. Subsequently for the purpose of assuring public confidence in the bank, full faith that the accuracy of our former statement would be demonstrated, we requested the superintendent of banking to send his trained experts to make a thorough investigation of all the affairs of the bank. Those gentlemen commenced work Tuesday

THE PRESS.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 5.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to retain or preserve communications that are not used.

Parnell's double dealing with American Irishmen as disclosed at the meeting of the National League will end his influence in the United States.

The Boston Herald's story that Mr. Reed is about to retire from Congress to become connected with some corporation in New York goes to show that the hot weather has had the effect to prolong much beyond the usual time the newspaper's silly season. The yarn is absolutely foundationless.

The list of subscribers to the building fund of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, printed on Saturday, was a pleasant surprise to our citizens. The Association is a favorite institution in our city, and it's quiet work, handicapped as it has been by insufficient equipments, has earned for it an honorable place. An institution which so freely extends to all young men, without regard to creed, color or caste, the benefits and privileges made possible by the open handedness of its supporters certainly deserves the cordial and hearty support of all. The movement now on foot to procure a building which shall enable the work to be done as it ought to be done in so important a city as Portland deserves and ought to receive every encouragement possible. The list of subscribers so far is a good one and represents the feeling, we believe, of our best citizens towards this undertaking. The names of the trustees and building committee show that it is in responsible hands, and that the work will be safely conducted to a successful termination, and that ere long we shall have in our midst a building which shall be architecturally an ornament to our city, and an evidence of the philanthropic spirit of our citizens, besides emphasizing the things it will stand for, the most practical Christian activity, the broadest and most enduring fraternal feeling, and the desire that the young men of Portland shall have every possible inducement to draw them out to the fullest and noblest manhood.

That dyspeptic, but nevertheless lively, individual who writes letters to the Argus over the initials "L. W. S." Indulged on Saturday morning in a spiteful attack upon Bowdoin College. "L. W. S." finds three causes of complaint against Bowdoin: that the grounds "are neglected and slovenly and look no neater than some Western hog pastures;" that the appearance of too many of the students "is in keeping with the college grounds;" and the "enforced religious exercises," the boys being "forced to turn out to prayers every morning, and not a few of them go in a very profane state of mind." Anyone who has seen Bowdoin College campus and buildings this year will know that the first complaint is absolutely groundless, but there are many readers of "L. W. S.'s" letter who never see Bowdoin College, and who should not be misled in this way. It may be that Bowdoin's campus is not graded and clipped with the nicety of the New York lawns and parks so familiar to the eyes of "L. W. S." but the campus is nevertheless well cared for and pleasant, not in the least resembling a hog yard. Maine colleges are not able to expend large sums in landscape gardening; they can expend the money to better advantages in increasing their educational facilities. As for the students, they are in appearance fair representatives of the young men of Maine. They are not dressed so faultlessly as the young dudes ,whom "L. W. S." has beheld in New York, but their attire and demeanor is up to that of Bowdoin students of the past. And if "L. W. S." would know what sort of men those Bowdoin students of the past have made he has only to read one of the most remarkable alumni rolls that any college can boast of. It is true that the Bowdoin student is obliged to attend chapel for prayers for fifteen or twenty minutes every morning, not in order that he may be forced to go a certain way in religious matters, but as a useful exercise of college discipline. We believe that even in the United States navy, where sectarianism certainly does not prevail, attendance upon divine service is one of the duties of the seamen. The Congregationalist church watched over the infancy of Bowdoin College, and has nurtured and sustained it ever since. In return, all that is asked in the way of religious obligation of the young men who enjoy the advantages of the college, is attendance at prayers for a few moments every morning. It is simply silly to object to such a regulation as that, and in keeping with the rest of the criticisms of "L. W. S." on the college.

Thursday occurs the race between Nelson and Allerton upon the track at Grand Rapids, Michigan. All persons are not interested in horse trots, and not a few regard such events with something like disapproval on account of the bad name the track has received from the tricks of some unscrupulous jockeys. But there is no reason why a horse trot properly conducted is not as good a form of entertainment as a base ball game, a rowing contest or a running match. And we think that the staidest citizen of Maine may be pardoned an interest in the great race at Grand Rapids Thursday. It is true that C. H. Nelson's performance at the race between his horse and the Kentucky trotter Alcryon was such as to destroy public confidence in him as a manager of the horse. But the situation at Grand Rapids seems to be such that both of the owners, Nelson and Williams, will lack inducements to enter into any such arrangement as that between Nelson and the owner of Alcryon. Each man now has a stallion which he claims to be the fastest trotter in the world. They are about to meet to decide the supremacy. The stake money is a small part of the profits of winning. The increase in value of the winner will be so great, and the depreciation in the value of the loser so considerable, that arrangements to sell the race would seem to be most unlikely. Apparently the race must be honest, and as such it will be one of the greatest sporting events in these modern times, which are so given over to the enjoyment of sports. Here are the two fastest trotting stallions in the world, so evenly matched for speed that the first place is claimed for both; and they are to contest on the same track and together for the prize of king of their kind. The sober citizen who never intentionally saw a horse go a mile in less than five minutes, may be pardoned for taking a lively interest in Thursday's event at Grand Rapids. One of the leading agricultural journals, the American Horse Breeder, has made an interesting summary of the apparent merits of the two horses. It is probably as fair as can be made before they have been seen together.

While it is true that Allerton's record is faster than Nelson's, every candid, unprejudiced horseman must admit that the 2.10 of Nelson, considering the conditions under which it was made, is a more creditable mark than the 2.09¼ of the great son of Jay Bird. Nelson's record was made over a regulation track. His driver was some thirty pounds over weight. Allerton's record was obtained over a kite-shaped track, built upon the most favorable soil that can be found, and is admitted to be from two to four seconds faster than a good mile track of the regulation pattern. It is true that Nelson, over the same course, only succeeded in trotting 2.10¾. This signifies nothing, however, as the horse might not have been in condition to go so fast a mile as he was in Michigan. We do not wish to disparage the performance of Allerton, but until he trots a mile in 2.10, pulling 180 pounds weight over a regulation track, he cannot be rated the equal in speed to the Maine-bred son of Young Rolfe (2.21¼). No doubt Allerton is as game a trotting stallion as ever took the word, and it is not improbable that he can beat the New England idol in a race, but he has never given so meritorious a performance as Nelson's mile in 2.10 over the Michigan regulation track, pulling a 180-pound driver.

It is evidently the opinion of this journal that the Maine horse is the better. Whether or not this is so, Thursday's event will probably show.

SINGING SHAD.

Queer Fish That are Said to Serenade Residents of Cape May.

[Baltimore American.]

The singing shad has been seen and heard in lower Delaware Bay this spring. It hasn't been seen in large quantities, of course, for the appearance of this odd fish in these waters is a rare occurrence. But few of the singing shad have enchanted the fishermen since the season began. They come from the South, and only when the wind has died down and the water is quiet. They come in schools, emitting al notes as they swim along. The sounds they make are soft and something like those of an æolian harp. It is hard to express, or rather imitate, on paper, the melody they sing. It runs something like this: "Wee ho, he hi do de; weeho, die di dum."

This sound cannot be made with any effect, except when the shad travel in schools. The singing of a single shad is too feeble to be heard above the ripple of the water. This year has been the first, probably for a decade, that the singing shad has favored the fishermen of Delaware Bay. Capt. Arnold, one of the oldest and most truthful of South Jersey fishermen, said the other day that he had heard the singing shad a number of times in his piscatorial career. "They are rare, of course, so far north as this. Even when they do come only old fishers are apt to hear and distinguish them. We know about them and are more or less on the lookout for their occasional arrival. They really belong off the coast of Bolivia and Chili. There they are quite common. All sorts of fairy tales are narrated about them by South American fishermen. The singing shad also breed in Japanese waters. The fishermen of Japan are delighted when they strike a school of singing shad. They follow them up reverently, because they believe the fish are inspired. They throw them food and never catch or eat them."

The singing shad is different from the common-back or roe shad. It is not so large and there is a slight difference in the formation of the mouth. Only an expert fisherman can tell when he has caught one of the finny songsters. Old fishermen regard the musical shad as prizes and do not send them to market unless they are paid a very high price for them. It is estimated that they travel in schools of about 500. Their singing is pleasant at first, but soon grows monotonous, owing to the fact that it is a constant repetition of the same few sounds. Whether many of these peculiar fish ever go on up the Delaware or move on to New York and mingle with the plain every-day Hudson River shad is not known. They lose their identity when they get in with other fish, and it is doubtful if they ever sing alone.

THE HOME.

HINTS ABOUT HOUSE PLANTS,

When do you want your plant to bloom? It is a question you will need to decide at the outset, for while most plants with a fair chance will bloom in the summer season, special treatment is necessary and unremitting care if you would have the cherry, bright blossoms come to you when winter winds are moaning dirges over the "dead past" of out-door plant life.

Is the location of the windows to which your plants must be confined during the cold weather such that they will have the benefit of the morning or mid-way sunshine? If not, your chances for winter blossoms are quite diminutive, and you would better encourage your plants to do their best for you while they respond so readily to your care, and for the winter plants content yourself with the beautiful greenery of those named as being the best all-the-year-round-general-purpose plants, and for variety place them among a few of the hardier varieties of such as are admired for their foliage alone. Or you may add a few plants, which from their natures, are less dependent upon direct sun-rays for the development of their flowers.

Plants intended for winter blooming should be brought early into winter quarters, and if possible, places just where they are to remain. And when I say early, I do not mean that one may wait till there are threats of frost. The chill atmosphere that precedes and warns of coming frost may work dire results to the buds of promise with which the plants are freighted, and they will blight and fall away ere the time for fulfilment, leaving you to wonder that the carefully kept plants do not bloom, though you are sure they were not touched by the frost. A chill to the buds is as a nip of frost to the stalk, and after either you must wait for blossoms.

And now if you will go back and read that item again, and think, you can make a fair guess at one of the principal reasons that so few plants bloom in the winter. The variable temperature of an ordinary room, even though it never falls to the point of frost, works ruin among the buds, and that, too, where there is no perceptible effect on the foliage of the plants. In a room whose temperature in the day time is kept high, as most of us erroneously keep our rooms, and which is allowed at night to fall within 10° of freezing, there will not be a very satisfactory floral display.—Cottage Hearth.

SOME MILLINARY HINTS.

The new hats and bonnets are all placed high upon the crown and do not cover the back of the head in the least.

The latest style in bonnet strings is velvet ribbon two inches wide, which is quite a departure from the narrow bridles that have been so popular.

Cut felt and velvet made up on frames is to be much worn. Soft Tam O'Shanter crowns predominate and are very picturesque,

Felts are always convenient, and as a stale article are more or less in demand. They are very much trimmed this season.

Pointed steeple crown hats are very stylish, as well as the platter crowns, which are exceeding popular.

Rosettes are to be used a great deal in trimming, and buckles, large pins and small stick pins are important decorations.

There seems to be a greater diversity in millinery fashions than last year, and every style of head and face can be suited, both in shape and manner of trimming.

The fish scale spangle trimming is the novelty of the season and is exceedingly effective.

Jets are used more extensively than ever, oftentimes forming the entire hat or bonnet, in which instance the crown is openwork, but a black or colored foundation can be added if desired.

Pompons, aigrettes and jewelled tipped quills are all very beautiful for evening bonnets.

The soft crowns are frequently embroidered, and pleated fronts are often used.

WATER AS A MEDICINE.

The human body is constantly undergoing tissue change. Worn out particles are cast aside and eliminated from the system, while the new are ever being formed, from the inception of life to its close.

Water has the power of increasing these tissue changes, which multiply the waste products, but at the same time they are renewed by its agency, giving rise to increased appetite, which in turn provides fresh nutriment. Persons but little accustomed to drink water are liable to have the waste products formed faster than they are removed. Any obstruction to the free working of natural laws at once produces disease, which, if once firmly seated, requires both time and money to cure,

People accustomed to rise in the morning weak and languid will find the cause in the imperfect secretion of wastes, which many times may be remedied by drinking a tumbler of water before retiring. This very materially assists in the process during the night, and leaves the tissues fresh and strong, ready for the active work of the day.

A hot bath on going to bed, even in the hot nights of summer, is a better reliever of insomnia than many drugs.

Inflamed parts will subside under the continued poulticing of real hot water.

Very hot water, as we all know, is a prompt checker of bleeding, and besides, if it is clean, as it should be, it aids in sterilizing our wound.—Hall's Journal of Health.

SPICED PLUMS.

Make a syrup allowing one pound of sugar to one of plums and to every three pounds of sugar a scant pint of vinegar. Allow one ounce each of ground cinnamon, cloves, mace and allspice to a peck of plums. Add the spices to the syrup and pour boiling over the plums. Let these stand three days; then skim them out and boil down the syrup until it is quite thick and pour hot over the plums in the jar in which they are to be kept. Cover closely.

WINTERING PANSIES.

To have fine, early blooming pansies, get the plants a month or more before the usual freezing up of the ground. Choose a place where no water will stand, dig ten inches deep, and work into the soil one-fourth bushel well-rotted stable manure, or one pound fine bone meal per square yard; rake the bed up mellow; then set the plants three inches apart each way, putting the roots well down into the soil which is to be moist.

Before freezing weather sets in, surround the plants by a frame of boards, one foot high on the north side, and six inches on the south; cover this with lattice of lath nailed three-fourths of an inch apart on strips strong enough to withstand the weight of the snow, or sashes may be used, fastened on with a space of one inch left open at the ends of the frame and between the sashes, to allow the circulation of air; this will save all attention to airing during winter; if the soil gets dray, water on mild days.

As spring comes take the lattice off, but replace during cold spells. If sash were used, air freely for a week, then remove them to keep the plants from growing soft replacing only if the weather gets very cold. Plants so wintered are very hardy, and may be planted where they are to bloom as early as the bed can be prepared. As pansies must have rich soil, it is well to manure such bed heavily in the fall, and dig in roughly; work it over in the spring, setting the plants as above directed.

Keep the bed moist, and when hot days come mulch, two inches deep with anything at hand, to keep the soil cool. It probably will be necessary to water once a week and oftener, as the heat increases—do not plant pansies close to trees, but the afternoon shade from a building or fence is beneficial. —N. E. Farmer.

CLAM FRITTERS.

One heaping pint of flour, one half pint of milk, one tablespoonful of salad oil or butter, one teaspoonful of salt, two eggs. Beat the eggs light, add the milk and salt to them Pour half this mixture on the flour, and when beaten light and smooth add the oil or butter melted. Have a pint of clams drained, chopped, and seasoned with salt and pepper. Stir the the clams into the batter and then fry in boiling fat. Some recipes use the clam liquor for mixing the batter.—Miss Parlon.

MISCELLANEOUS.

"CONFIDENCE BEGETS LOVE."

CHILD. "Gran'ma, kiss me good-night. Sister is asleep, but we so love to hear you tell of all the ladies that call you Mother."

MRS. PINKHAM. "Yes, darling, when you are older perhaps you may do as I have done."

CHILD. "Everybody loves you, gran'ma; I wish everybody would love me."

MRS. PINKHAM. "Everyone will love you, my child, if they can confide in you."

The above dialogue tells its own story; even the little child, without knowing why her grandmother is so universally loved, sees in her face a light of intellectual sympathy that satisfies her. That sympathy has extended itself all over the world, for wherever civilized women exist, Mrs. Pinkham is known and reverenced.

OFFICE OF THE Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co., NO. 95 MILK STREET.

P. O. BOX 346.

CIRCULAR NO. 67.

BOSTON, September 28, 1891.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE Guarantee Fund Mortgage 6 per cent. Notes, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe R. R. Co.:

THE GUARANTEE FUND MORTGAGE SIX PER CENT. NOTES of the Atchison Company, issued November 1, 1888, and due November 1, 1891, for $9,000,000, and of which the Company has acquired since their issue, and has now in the Treasury, $2,000,000, leaving $7,000,000 outstanding and in the hands of yourselves, are upon an underlying lien to the GENERAL MORTGAGE FOUR PER CENT. GOLD BOND INDENTURE of the Company, dated October 15, 1889, which originated with the Financial Reorganization of the Company, under which, as well, provision was made for the retention by the Union Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, of GENERAL MORTGAGE FOUR PER CENT. GOLD BONDS of an equal amount of such bonds $9,000,000, to provide for ultimate retirement of the GUARANTEE FUND NOTES.

The Directors of the Atchison Company believe that, with the encouraging prospects of the property, it would be more advantageous to the Company to defer retirement of the GUARANTEE FUND NOTES two years, or until November 1, 1893, the GENERAL MORTGAGE FOUR PER CENT. GOLD BONDS reserved to continue with the Trustee until required for purpose of such retirement.

The Company now offers to the holders of the GUARANTEE FUND MORTGAGE SIX PER CENT. NOTES the right of such extension at par, with a cash commission of one per cent., to be paid by the Company to such holders as will signify their assent on or before October 20th proximo.

The NOTES of those holders who have not assented to extension by Oct. 20, prox., will be acquired and paid for in full, on or before Nov. 1, by a syndicate which will extend the NOTES upon the terms offered to present holders.

Holders are respectfully asked to promptly communicate their wishes in writing to J. W. REINHART, VICE-PRESIDENT, 95 Milk Street, Boston. Those who assent will be notified when to present their NOTES at the office of the Company for indorsement, affixing of new coupon sheets and receipt of cash premium.

By order of the Board of Directors,

GEORGE C. MAGOUN, Chairman.

J. W. REINHART, Vice-President.

A KENTUCKY OUTLAW'S DEATH.

BY JAMES NOEL JOHNSON.

The night had took possession at the closin out o' day,
When ole Bill Capfield snaihs fed o' strawnan yaller flame,
Which made the shadders climb the wall, then flutter down again.
An o'er the features of ole Bill the lights an shadders ran
Like life an death, thet, then an thar, contended for the man.
The kinfolks stood around, with features wrapped an eyes a-leakin,
To ketch the words thet, on this earth, the last he would be speakin.
Now, punctuated by his gasps an feeble coughs, he spoke:
"I am a big wild hoss," he said, "tamed when its neck is broke!
I'm hancuffed now, an helpless lay beneath the very one—
The fiend o' Death—thet I so oft hev stuffed into my gunl
No more the rammod will I shove into my rifle's throat;
No more I'll hear my shotgun yell, with death cries in each note;
No more my seven shooter flames to light some foeman home
To that dark region where ole Bill will, in short meter, ream;
No more my knife will leap aloft just like a strip o' flame,
Nor will it cut another notch into my stick o' fame.
For feeble is the arm o' strength, and failing is the eye—
The arm thet let the foeman down, the eye thet saw him die.
My brothers, I kin plow no more; my instruments I yield
Into your han's—be sure, dear ones, you don't neglect the field;
Take up your march where I lay down, keep all your foes in sight;
Be watchful; keep my memory an my guns an pistols bright."
The speaker stopped. Awhile he tried the rattle out to cough,
But Death's fist closed upon his neck—cut the air pump off.

HIS MISTAKE.

There is Such a Thing as a Funny Man being too Funny.

[Chicago Tribune.]

The early riser was out watering his grass when the funny man came whaing and stepped on the hose.

The early riser turned around to see what had shut off the water so suddenly, and the funny man laughed at him.

"Get off that hose!" exclaimed the early riser.

"Oh, don't mind me," said the funny man. "Go on and water your grass."

Then he noticed that the nozzle was carelessly pointed in his direction.

"Here! Point that the other way!" he cried.

The early riser glanced down at the nozzle and his face lit up with pleasure.

"Amusing to shut off a man's water, isn't it?" he asked.

"But, my dear sir," expostulated the funny man, "I didn't—"

"It's intensely funny," said the early riser; "you'd better get off that hose."

"But I can't," said the funny man. "Don't you see the nozzle's pointed right at me, and if I do—"

"Oh, well, I'm no hurry," interrupted the early riser. "If you enjoy it I don't know that I have any reason to object."

He sat down on the railing surrounding his grass plat and rested the nozzle on his knee, still keeping it pointed toward the funny man.

"I say," said the latter, "if you'll turn that the other way I'll get off."

"Oh, I wouldn't put you to so much trouble," said the early riser. "Enjoy yourself."

The early riser held the nozzle between his knees while he took out a cigar and lit it. The funny man watched him puff it, for a moment. Then he said:

"See here, old man, my leg's getting stiff."

"Why don't you shift legs?" asked the early riser disinterestedly.

The funny man tried it, made a slip, and the stream almost reached him before he could get his foot on the hose again. The early riser chuckled.

"Say, I'll break your head!" cried the funny man excitedly.

"All right," returned the early riser carelessly. "But be careful or you may slip off the hose again."

The funny man glared at the early riser a moment and then said:

"If I were as mean as you are I'd go into the pawnbrokers' business."

"If I were as funny as you are," said the early riser as he leisurely puffed his cigar, "I'd hire out to a burlesque company."

The funny man tried to walk along the hose to get farther away from the nozzle, but the water spurted out a little with each step and he stopped. Then he got desperate, stepped off, and started to run. The stream caught him in the middle of the back.

When he got out of range he turned and shook his fist at the impassive early riser and made some terrible threats.

And the early riser muttered as he began watering the grass again:

"Funny that a funny man can't take a joke on himself."

Her Mother Knew.

[New York Weekly.]

Mother—And so you engaged yourself to that young man at Idlewild Springs, did you?

Daughter (sheepishly)—Y-e-s, ma, I promised to become his wife.

"It was on a beautiful moonlight evening in June."

"Why, yes, ma; how did you know?"

"And the hotel band was playing a delightful waltz by Strauss."

"Why, yes. Who told you?"

"And you two were in the arbor on the lawn."

"Yes."

"And the fountain sparkled in the moonlight, and made music which seemed like a fairy echo to the sweet melody which floated out from the distant orchestra."

"Yes. How?—"

"And the lake with its fleet of pretty boats gliding about the softly illuminated waters seemed like a bit of lovely Venice dreaming at your feet."

"Yes, yes. But how did you know all this?"

"I knew it must have been under some such combination of circumstances that he proposed, or you would never have said 'yes' to such an addle pated nincompoop as that."

Merely a Test.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The barber had adjusted the towel, patted his victim's face and proceeded with the opening scrape. It sounded like the noise of a street sweeper.

"Do de razah hu'ht you, sah?" the barber asked.

"Hurt me! I should say so. It about killed me."

He procured another, and gave a long scrape.

"How 'bout dat one?" he asked.

"That hurts worse than the other."

Still another was brought out and this time a wail announced the result.

"Dat'n hu'hts yer, too, do it?"

"You infernal rascal, of course it does. What do you mean by getting me here and tearing the face off me? Haven't you got any good razors?"

"Deed I has, boss, but I kiner 'spected dat foh or fibe ob 'em needed homin an ey yoh face seemed right tender like, I thought I'd jes' take de ppperhunity ter tes' 'em an make sho'."

Didn't "Queer" the Preacher.

[Buffalo Courier.]

A clergyman well known to journalists people says that when the Lord made him he forgot to put any pegs in his mind on which to hang the names of acquaintances. He can remember faces, but not names. He became pastor of a large church a few months ago, and after discharging his duties long enough to know his sheep by sight, he was visited one evening by a lady whom he knew well, but whose name he could not, for the life of him, recall. Wishing to be reminded of it without exposing his ignorance, he said:

"Let me see, ah—how do you spell your name?"

To which she replied, with reproachful dignity:

"S-m-i-t-h."

For a moment the clergyman was floored, but he rallied quickly and escaped rebuke by rejoining:

"Oh; then you don't spell it with a y!"

The Light of Hope.

There's a nice clerk in a certain Detroit music store, who is not only a dreamer, but of late he has become very religiously inclined. The other day a pretty girl from the country came into the store.

"Good morning," he said politely.

"Good morning," she responded. "Have you 'White Wings?'"

"I beg your pardon," he stammered.

"Have you 'White Wings?'" she repeated.

"Not yet," he answered meekly. Then hopefully, "but I expect to have some day, miss."

The girl looked at him for a second and hurriedly got out.—Detroit Free Press.

WIT AND WISDOM.

DANGER OF CONFUSION.

[Chicago Tribune.]

"This animal, ladies and gents," said the showman, "is the chimpanzee. The remarkable thing about the chimpanzee, ladies and gents, is that it comes nearest to being a human person of any speesh of the monkey tribe. This here is the chimpanzee, ladies and gents," he continued, "the one inside the cage. Please stand a little furder back, sir! You'll get mixed."

And he glared at a young dude from Jersey City who was poking the animal with his cane.

Professor—Ah, Monsieur Blank, zat is varay true; but (shrugging his shoulders) cet ze expression ees not zare, how can you catch him?—Brooklyn Eagle.

Around the World in Eighty Days.

Did Jules Verne ever think that his imaginary Phileas Fogg would be eclipsed by an American girl, who once made the circuit in less than seventy-three days? But Phileas had to take "second money." The fame of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has gone around the world long ago, and left its record everywhere as a precious boon to every nation. In the whole world of medicine, nothing equals it for the cure of scrofula of the lungs (which is Consumption), Coughs and bronchial troubles succumb to this remedy, and the blood is purified by it, until all unsightly skin blotches are driven away. Don't be skeptical, as this medicine is guaranteed to every purchaser. You only pay for the good you get.

Mr. Koops—Now, Mose, how did you come to kill that bird?

Mose—Dat's jes' w' at I'se comin' to 'splain, Massa Koops. I done kill dat chicken in se' f-defence!

Mr. Koops—Oh, look here, Mose! A little chicken wouldn't hurt you.

Mose—Ya-as; dat's what I thought.—Puck.

Her Mother Knew.

"Do you think he will say so. It about killed me."

"Why, yes, ma; how did you know?"

"And the hotel band was playing a delightful waltz by Strauss."

"Yes. How?—"

"And the lake with its fleet of pretty boats gliding about the softly illuminated waters seemed like a bit of lovely Venice dreaming at your feet."

"Yes, yes. But how did you know all this?"

"I knew it must have been under some such combination of circumstances that he proposed, or you would never have said 'yes' to such an addle pated nincompoop as that."

Merely a Test.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The barber had adjusted the towel, patted his victim's face and proceeded with the opening scrape. It sounded like the noise of a street sweeper.

"Do de razah hu'ht you, sah?" the barber asked.

"Hurt me! I should say so. It about killed me."

He procured another, and gave a long scrape.

"How 'bout dat one?" he asked.

"That hurts worse than the other."

Still another was brought out and this time a wail announced the result.

"Dat'n hu'hts yer, too, do it?"

"You infernal rascal, of course it does. What do you mean by getting me here and tearing the face off me? Haven't you got any good razors?"

"Deed I has, boss, but I kiner 'spected dat foh or fibe ob 'em needed homin an ey yoh face seemed right tender like, I thought I'd jes' take de ppperhunity ter tes' 'em an make sho'."

Didn't "Queer" the Preacher.

[Buffalo Courier.]

A clergyman well known to journalists people says that when the Lord made him he forgot to put any pegs in his mind on which to hang the names of acquaintances. He can remember faces, but not names. He became pastor of a large church a few months ago, and after discharging his duties long enough to know his sheep by sight, he was visited one evening by a lady whom he knew well, but whose name he could not, for the life of him, recall. Wishing to be reminded of it without exposing his ignorance, he said:

"Let me see, ah—how do you spell your name?"

To which she replied, with reproachful dignity:

"S-m-i-t-h."

For a moment the clergyman was floored, but he rallied quickly and escaped rebuke by rejoining:

"Oh; then you don't spell it with a y!"

The Light of Hope.

There's a nice clerk in a certain Detroit music store, who is not only a dreamer, but of late he has become very religiously inclined. The other day a pretty girl from the country came into the store.

"Good morning," he said politely.

"Good morning," she responded. "Have you 'White Wings?'"

"I beg your pardon," he stammered.

"Have you 'White Wings?'" she repeated.

"Not yet," he answered meekly. Then hopefully, "but I expect to have some day, miss."

The girl looked at him for a second and hurriedly got out.—Detroit Free Press.

BRIEF JOTTINGS.

The Hebrews are celebrating the Jewish new year.

It is expected the paving on Monument square will be finished by October 20th.

The beautiful summer weather of Saturday and Sunday was thoroughly appreciated.

There was a heavy fog last night after the beautiful summer weather of the day.

It is reported that Mr. Ponce will build a summer theatre on Long Island.

The materials for the Westbrook Manufacturing Company's electric road have arrived.

The Evangelical Ministers' Association will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 10 30 this morning.

The Overseers of the Poor have had built an ambulance for the use of the Greeley Hospital.

Bosworth Post and Relief Corps will visit Togus Wednesday, if pleasant, otherwise by the 6.45 a. m. train on Thursday.

Sneak thieves are about in Westbrook. A number of families lost valuables by their work on Cross street one day last week.

Last week's chattel mortgages were six, amounting to $1445, and there were four assignments of wages, amounting to $653.

The deeds to the trustees of the Mountain Farm syndicate (who are engaged in coal mining at Small Point) were passed Saturday.

Judge Gould sentenced Tracy Saturday for selling liquor, notwithstanding Tracy's denials. Tracy appealed.

The Y. M. C. A. of Maine will meet for this year at the new association building at Bangor, October 29th, the session to last until November 1st.

Mr. Hunter, while working in Ivory Moulton's box mill at Westbrook, caught his leg in the gearing and it was badly cut.

The delegates of the Central Labor Union are asked to be present at the city meeting tonight, when the hearing on shorter hours for city laborers will take place.

Pat Mulkern was stabbed in the wrist at a house warming Saturday night and Dr. O'Neill took several stitches in the wound. No arrests were made.

The Chinaman who informed on Hop Lung for keeping an opium joint, applied for police protection Saturday night, fearing, he said, for his life. The police told him not to be scared.

Mr. C. S. D. Griffin, head clerk at the office of the Portland Gas Light Company, has resigned his position, after a faithful service of thirty-six years, on account of ill health. Mr. Fred E. Moore, who succeeded him, is a young man who has worked his way up from office boy in the employ of the company.

Excursion to the Mountains.

The Maine Central railroad has made special arrangements for a grand excursion to Fabyans next Wednesday, returning the same day, at the low fare of $1.50, which is the lowest rate reached for fall excursions. A special train will leave Portland at 8.40 a. m., without stop as far as North Conway, thus securing a longer stay at the more interesting points in the journey. As the hotels are mostly closed, the excursionists will do well to take lunch baskets.

The West End Band.

The West End Band is in a flourishing condition. The young men should be encouraged in their laudable purpose, and assisted in every way. They intend running a series of entertainments this winter. The following are the officers of the band:

President—Wm. H. Ryall.
Vice-President—Thos. Coughlin.
Secretary—Wm. E. Stevens.
Treasurer—Peter R. Flaherty.
Directors—F. Wilson, J. H. Hall, J. Carr, J. Foley, W. Kenney.

Brunswick—From Jane M. Morang to Clarence M. Davis, $8000.
Freeport—From Susie E. Wilson to Alden J. Cates, $1.00.

A NEW INVENTION

Which May Realize a Fortune for the Inventor.

Mrs. J. S. Palmer, wife of ex-Postmaster J. S. Palmer has secured a patent on an invention for bleaching wood pulp to be used in the manufacture of paper that will probably realize a fortune for herself, and her co-partner in the patent Mr. Adna Dennison of this city.

It is well known that the bleaching of the pulp is a long and tedious process and is accomplished by the use of soda ash. It is said that Mrs. Palmer discovered an acid that accomplishes the same result in at least one third of the time taken when the ash is used, and at from a half to one third the expense. This will be of material importance in the establishment of plants, for by the use of the patent it is claimed a plant that now costs about $100,000 with its expensive machinery, can be established for from $15,000 to $20,000, without reckoning the saving in time and expense in the bleaching of the pulp.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE ORGAN RECITAL.

The early season and beautiful summer weather still prevents a large attendance at the Congress Square organ recitals and yet they are very attractive. The "Berceuse," composed by Mr. Duncan, proved a lovely composition and was flatteringly received. Miss Knight sang delightfully as she always does. Both artists were encored.

THE CHOIR FESTIVAL.

Preparations are being made for a great musical event in Portland the latter part of this month. It will be the first annual festival of all the vested choirs in the Diocese of Maine. There will be in this notable gathering one hundred and fifty boys and fifty men, from Portland, Brunswick, Bath, Rockland, Lewiston, Gardiner, Augusta and Bangor. The festival will occur in St. Luke's cathedral and all the special music for the occasion is now being rehearsed by all the choirs named.

"NIOBE."

The Boston Globe has this to say of "Niobe," which will be given for the first time here next Wednesday and Thursday evenings: "There is scarcely a sentence or situation in "Niobe" which is not breezily merry. The comedy is constructed on novel lines and its dialogue is uncommonly bright and original. With rare tact everything of an offensively suggestive nature has been avoided; every burst of applause and every roar of laughter is won by means wholly legitimate on the farce comedy stage. The fundamental idea of the piece, showing Greek civilization in contrast with happenings in a Fifth avenue drawing room, is exceedingly funny and cleverly contrived are the complications ensuing.

JOSEPHINE CAMERON.

Speaking of Josephine Cameron and her company who will appear at Portland theatre tonight, the Buffalo Courier says: "Forget-Me-Not," Henry Merivale's sensational drama. Miss Josephine Cameron appeared in the title part of the drama at the Star last night. Her work and that of her company showed intelligence and pains. Nobody can tell just what makes a page of Ruskin glow with genius. If genius could be defined and copied, anybody might be a genius. The words that Ruskin uses, anyone may use. But nobody can be another Ruskin. The forms and methods employed by Mary Anderson may be imitated by any player, but they do not make her another Anderson. The quality of histrionic genuis transcends all critical analysis. In Miss Cameron's work there is manifest severe study."

A NIGHT'S FROLIC.

Speaking of Miss Helen Barry and her company who will open the Stockbridge popular course tomorrow evening for two nights, the Hartford Courant says: "Miss Barry has had a distinguished career on the stage. She is a royal looking woman. "Incredit regina" as Virgil says. She is every inch a queen, and it is as a queen of comedy that she takes rank in England with Ellen Terry and Mrs. Kendall. She created the original characters in plays of Boucicault, Tom Taylor and W. S. Gilbert. As a manager she has produced some of the most important plays of the epoch. The fame of her costumes has gone abroad. Every year she visits Worth and Felix at Paris and brings home the most perfect examples of their art. The enormous duties which she paid to the New York custom house on the dresses worn by her in the 'Night's Frolic" were the theme of long continued comment in the press. Her uniform as a French chasseur was designed by the artist specially employed by M. Felix for the costliest gowns of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt. Her scenery, painted expressly for her purposes by Mr. Voeytlin, is carried in a special car, and so great is her love of realism that she has bought two dogs for the capital scene of the second act of "A Night's Frolic." One of these dogs, which are St. Bernards coming direct from the Hospice on the St. Bernards, mountain, is called 'Knight' and the other 'Frolic.' Her company is composed exclusively of artists. Miss Barry does not believe in the policy of 'a star and a company of sticks.' There is not one of the ladies and gentlemen surrounding her that has not attained prominence in some walk of the profession.

NOTES.

Mr. John Welch has gone to New York for three months' musical study.

The Portland Singers, Harvey Murray, conductor, began the rehearsal of Whitney's "Dream Pictures" Friday night.

Misses Hattie Johnson and Mabelle Safford will give concerts in York county the coming week. Miss Safford will return to the Boston School of Oratory this fall.

It appears that "Jack Royal of the Sixty-second," a play written for Harry Lacey by A. C. Wheeler, better known as Nym Crinkle has achieved a pronounced success. It is a romantic military play in five acts and a prologue, with scenes on the Hudson river, the tunnel in Manhattanville, the Manhattan iron works and an armory. Its action is during the period of '63, principally in New York and from all accounts it bids fair to win fame and cash for author and actor.

The farewell performance of "Robin Hood" by the Bostonians in Philadelphia, was made particularly pleasant for George Frothingham. A few of his many friends took advantage of his last appearance as Friar Tuck to present him with a testimonial of their regard. Accordingly, after one of his funny scenes he was called to the footlights and handed, by the leader of the orchestra, a small leather case containing what looked like a miniature ham. It was a scarf pin, made of heavy gold, enamelled to represent the choice specimen of the article that has made Cincinnati famous. It looked like a boiled ham and across it was a band inscribed "Frothing."

Winter Time Tables.

The winter time table on the Portland & Rochester road will go into effect today. The 7.25 a. m. train will leave at 7.30. The 3.15 p. m. train for Gorham will hereafter leave fifteen minutes earlier, at 3 o'clock.

The Boston & Maine changed time yesterday. The Boston trains on the Western division leave at 7, 8.45 a. m., 12.40 and 3.30 p. m. On the Eastern division Boston trains leave at 2 a. m., 9 a. m., 1 and 6 p. m. For local trains see advertisement.

The Grand Trunk train that formerly left this city for Lewiston at 12 45 p. m., will leave at 1.10 p. m., and the train that is scheduled to leave at 5.12 p. m. will leave at 5.20 p. m. This change is made necessary by the change of route.

An Odd Lawn Sprinkler.

A large number of people were attracted to Lincoln Park, Saturday, to witness the trial of a novel lawn sprinkler invented by Jerome Fellows, formerly of Fryeburg. It is a revolving sprinkler standing upon three wheels, two in front and the little wheel behind. The inventor placed it in the center of the park, turned on the water, and the sprinkler crawled all over the lawn. The force of the water causes the rotary motion of the sprinkler, and the latter causes a steel rod to revolve. By a simple arrangement of cog wheels the force is applied to the wheels. The sprinkler can be made to travel in a circle, or in a straight line. It is a novel thing.

Fears for the City Point.

It is feared that the schooner City Point of Portland, which left this port for a halibut trip to La Have banks, with a crew of captain and twelve men, seven of them Portlanders, has gone down in the terrible gale of Sept. 7th. The schooner was built at Boothbay in 1867 and is owned by Cushing & McKenney. This was her crew: Captain, F. R. Elorette, Loring McKenney, George Burgess and Granville Cushing, all of Long Island; Richard Turner, Walter McGraw, Frank McGraw, Wm. Southerland, James Quill, Frank Lewis and Robert Wilson, of Portland, and James Ryan of Gloucester.

The Death Rate.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY AT WOODFORD.

Nineteen years ago this month a Congregational Sunday school was started in the school house, on Ocean street, at Woodford. The few earnest workers were faithful, although the attendance was small and the place was sparsely settled. Few localities in our State have seen as many changes, as much advance, in nineteen years, as has this growing suburb of our city. Today the church, which resulted from the Sunday school labors of a few men and women, is as strong and prosperous, in proportion to its membership, as any in this vicinity.

Last evening the anniversary of the Sunday school was observed with appropriate exercises. The services were held in the beautiful auditorium of the church which has been enlarged and entirely remodelled since the last anniversary. A large audience gathered to enjoy an interesting programme consisting of recitations by Ethel Chaffee, Malcom Woodbury, and others, music by the Sunday School Male Quartette, a bass solo by Mr. Charles Oldham, reports by the officers, remarks by the pastor, Rev. Edwin P. Wilson, and a most interesting address by Mr. E. H. Crosby, Principal of the Deering High School, and an active member of the Woodford church.

The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports show a total membership of 347. The average attendance for the year, omitting the months of July and August, was 191. There was raised by the school the sum of $231 54, about half of which was given to benevolent objects including a generous gift to the building fund of the church. Of special interest is the fact that forty members of the school have united with the church during the year. The attendance yesterday, the first session of the new year, was 235, The school starts out on its twentieth year with great courage, being most happily united under the leadership of its efficient superintendent, Mr. H. H. Nevens. The full board of officers is as follows:

Pastor—E. F. Wilson.
Superintendent—H. H. Nevens.
Assistant Superintendent—W. B. Johnson.
Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Edith Soule.
Librarian—W. S. Hanson, H. A. Rackleff.
Pianist—Miss Hattie Johnson.

The Oakdale School is now well under way with Miss Addie Stockwell as principal and Miss Maud Packard of Fessenden street, as assistant teacher.

Nearly eight hundred dollars have been spent in repairs on All Souls (Universalist) church during the vacation. The auditorium which was occupied yesterday for religious service has been beautifully frescoed by Mr. D. F. Jost of Portland. The old blue firmament, sprinkled with stars, has disappeared from the upper ceiling, and a plainer design in warmer colors has taken its place. The principal ornamentation is on the west or pulpit end of the church, where a good deal of bronze has been used, especially in the recess back of the pulpit. A handsome carpet has just been laid on the floor by H. J. Bailey & Co. Some changes have been made in the choir. Miss Leo Chenery of Woodfords sings soprano, and Mr. F. L. Rankin of Portland, tenor, while Mrs. Rankin presides at the organ.

The Unity Club will be entertained by the President, Miss Fanny Stevens tomorrow evening. This will be the first meeting of the season.

Cape Elizabeth.

Captain Wm. Littlejohn has bought a house lot on the Mussey farm next west that occupied by the fine new house of Mr. Trefethen. His cellar is already in, and he will commence building at once.

This large area of land lies between and separates the two larger villages of the town, about half of it being in each district. With lots being sold and houses going up on both sides, South Portland and Knightville will soon join hands across this beautiful but hitherto uninhabited tract.

The ceremony and rite of baptism was performed by Rev. Mr. West, pastor of the Free Baptist Church, Sunday, at 1 p. m., at Mill Creek, Knightville. The day and hour was pleasant beyond comparison, and a large concourse of people witnessed the ceremonies from the mill-dam and grassy slopes of the creek.

Evening Classes To-night.

The evening classes of the Young Men's Christian Association will open for the season to-night at 7.30 o'clock. This is a splendid chance for any young man who wishes to take a business course but is unable to attend the Business College by day. The studies will be the same as taught last year. Penmanship, arithmetic and commercial correspondence will be taught by Mr. Merrill of Gray's Business College, and bookkeeping by Mr. Judkins of Shaw's College. Vocal music will also be taught by a competent teacher. Men only are admitted to these classes. For further information call at the Association office, 439 Congress street.

Fire at Gray's Inn.

Saturday morning the largest of the three cottages attached to Gray's Inn, Jackson, N. H., was totally destroyed by fire. Mr. Gray was in town Saturday. He said the fire occurred about 6 30 o'clock that morning. The lower story of the cottage was occupied by boarders, who got out all their effects. The fire caught about the chimney. The hotel property and other cottages were not injured.

Mr. J. P. Marquand, formerly treasurer of the Marquand Leather Company, is now managing the New England business for the Credit Indemnity Company of New York, as will be seen by his advertisement in another column.

A Life Saved

A Fireman's Story

Mr. Geo. Raymond, of Seneca Falls, N. Y., is a pump setter in the employ of Ramsay & Co., the well known pump makers of that place. He is a member of Ramsay Engine Co. He says:

"Seneca Falls, July 30, 1891.

"My wife without doubt owes her life to Hood's Sarsaparilla. A few years ago she was at death's door, due to blood poisoning, or as physicians say pyaemia. After everything else failed Hood's Sarsaparilla brought her out of the crisis all right. Since then she has suffered at times with numbness and headache, but continues taking and is gradually getting over these troubles. She clings to Hood's, takes nothing else, and we believe it will effect a complete cure."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Judge Whittemore

Of St. Albans, Vt., cheerfully says: a good word for Hood's Sarsaparilla: "My wife's mother, an elderly lady, whenever run down or under the weather, takes it until it puts her in good condition again, which it invariably does in a short time. She thinks it absolutely essential to her existence, and will not allow herself to be out of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

My wife, also, speaks highly of it." HON. RODNEY WHITTEMORE, ex-Judge of Franklin Co., Vt.

DOES THIS MEAN YOU?

Better Read It At Any Rate.

Many a man who formerly possessed a powerful physique and strong, steady nerves, wonders at his feeling of weakness, dullness, exhaustion. There is an extremely nervous condition, a dull cloudy sensation, disagreeable feelings in head and eyes, bad taste in mouth mornings, the vision becomes dim, memory is impaired, and there is frequent dizziness, despondency and depression of mind. The nerves become so weakened that the least shock will flush the face or bring on a trembling with palpitation.

Luckily, there is the great and wonderful restorative, Dr. Greene's Nervura which will give back to the weakened and exhausted system the strength it has lost, imparts vigor to brain and nerves, vitalizes and invigorates the physical powers, dispels despondency and restores again that grand degree of lusty strength and power which in ignorance or folly we have exhausted Druggists sell it, $100. Purely vegetable and harmless. Try it and you will never regret it.

"I deem it my duty to the public to state the wonderful effects of Dr. Greene's Nervura in my case. My improvement has been most gratifying, and language cannot describe the change in my feelings and prospects. Where all was gloom and despondency there is now light and hope. I gained 13 pounds, and am still gaining. Not alone myself, but I know many others who can testify to the merits of Dr. Greene's Nervura."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

The weather today is likely to be fair.

PORTLAND, Oct. 5, 1891.

GO to the owners of some of the new houses which have lately been completed here and ask them how they happened to give the contract for furnishing the curtains, window shades and draperies to Owen, Moore & Co. in preference to other and older dealers in the line. They'll tell you that the assortment is bigger, the variety fresher newer and better, the ideas regarding the use of stuffs more progressive, the suggestions as to the treatment of different rooms farther in advance of what is past and gone, and last but not least lower prices.

Can you ask more!

It's like this.

You are about to occupy a new house or you have decided on an entire new deal for the old one. Every window on the front side at least must have curtains, shades and draperies. The doorways between suites must have portieres---maybe you've thouget to discard doors altogether and use the soft noiseless, slamless curtains everywhere.

Good.

You haven't quite solved the problem of wall papers, colors, carpets and furniture yet, and you are puzzled to determine as to what the tone of the parlor or the library, the hall or the front chamber shall be—perhaps you've settled on a limit of expense for all and don't know how to divide it

Do you know a comprehensive peep at a drapery stock like this one of ours and a talk with a man who made a study of this very subject for years makes it all very easy?

After you've decided on the draperies for a room the other things to harmonize seem to suggest themselves and that reduces the worry to the lowest possible point.

The department is overflowing with new things, bristling with ideas that are quite at your service. The work-rooms are equipped with every facility for the prompt execution of orders and we employ none but skilled workers. We furnish estimates for big jobs and little ones and will be glad to talk it over with you.

IMPOSTERS IN PORTLAND.

AS the efficiency of Andros's Fumigation becomes known to the people, as to create demand, imposters spring up by providing themselves with the Apparatus (without the supplies), for deceiving those in quest of this safe, luxurious way of disinfecting the human system of all the elements which tend to disease the body to the defeat of nature.

F. A. BUTTERFIELD, at Preble House, Portland, is the only authorized agent in this city for this humane practice, or sale of Family Outfits, though others have my signs and posters out. Look out for them. DR. S. F. CONANT, Skowhegan.
